St. Louis Shriners Hospital – Opening Dates Postponed

From: Shriners Hospital for Children

The planned opening date for the new Shriners Hospitals for Children has been postponed, officials with the hospital have announced. In addition, the Dedication Ceremony for the new facility, originally planned for Saturday, April 11th, is being rescheduled.

Original plans called for the hospital to be dedicated on Saturday, April 11th, and admitting the first patients to the new building on Monday, April 13th. However, the hospital suffered significant water damage in mid-January, resulting in the delay. Clean-up of the damage and demolition of affected areas has concluded.

While a specific date for project completion has yet to be determined, it is estimated that substantial completion will occur in April, about two months later than originally scheduled.

New dates for the Dedication Ceremony and Opening Day have also yet to be decided.

Hospital officials plan to release more information in approximately two weeks.
