St. Louis College of Pharmacy Update – Taylor Avenue Closure

From: St. Louis College of Pharmacy

This weekend, the St. Louis College of Pharmacy (STLCOP) marks a major milestone in construction of their new academic and research building and library. Crews will be installing some machinery on the roof and then disassembling the large crane, which has been a fixture of the project for nearly a year.

Because of all of the room required for this important work, Taylor Avenue will be closed between Children's Place and Parkview Place (Duncan) from 7 pm on Friday, April 10th until sometime in the evening on Sunday, April 12th. This work will be weather dependent.

On a similar note, the GO! St. Louis Marathon will be held this weekend and it will create closures at the intersections along Clayton Avenue between Boyle and Euclid. The closures will be taking place from 6am until 1pm on Sunday, April 12th.
